

A woman with glasses and a blue dress is sitting on a stool, speaking into a microphone. She is holding a book. Behind her are bookshelves filled with books. In front of her is an audience of people sitting on the floor, listening. The scene is indoors, likely a library or a community center.

damali ayo
LIVE
How to Rent a Negro

live at elliott bay books seattle, washington, july 26, 2005
recorded by sara lerner produced by christos ikononopoulos audiofantastic.com
mastered by clark salisbury photos by thom wallace

how to rent a negro, by damali ayo, 2005 lawrence hill books / chicago review press

special thanks to marc gerald yuval taylor
elisabeth malzahn
rick simonson
greg berry
hani shakeel
dave ross, kiro-fm
dave beck, kuow-fm
john sharify, komo tv florangela davila, seattle times sara, chris, clark and thom and of course... the fantastic audience.

© 2006 damali ayo
all rights reserved

damaliayo.com * rent-a-negro.com please join my mailing list

this cd packaging is 100% recyclable, and so are most of the things in your life.

 reduce - reuse - recycle

© 2006 damali ayo

WANTED

ARTICULATE, PERSONABLE, AND WELL-BEHAVED

BLACK PERSON

TO

- enliven social events
- answer questions about black culture
- help my life appear integrated

• WILLING TO PAY COMPETITIVE RATES •

Please Call: ____ - ____

© HOW TO RENT A NEGRO

- 1 intro
- 2 how to rent a negro
- 3 popular approaches
- 4 third grade
- 5 n-words
- 6 the rental quiz
- 7 the race card / dos and don'ts
- 8 crazy emails
- 9 real neo-nazis
- 10 dialogue begins
- 11 logical incentives
- 12 reparations

6 34479 44624 5